Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and Consortia

Course code: JV104 From: 23-12-2024 Venue: London - Premier inn Victoria Course Fees: 4445 £

Introduction

This course will teach you how to improve all of the key components of a Strategic Partnership [SP], Joint Venture [JV], or Consortium by conducting a formal scenario analysis of each potential opportunity and developing a detailed execution plan.

Firms/organizations must invest time, talent, and capital to develop new functional capabilities in order to remain competitive.

Access to these resources can be obtained by forming an SP, JV, or Consortium with those who already have the necessary functionalities. Get a comprehensive improvement and analysis process flow and apply it to modern firms in a variety of leading industries.

Then do the same for your company/organization, while developing a detailed proactive rubric to screen and approach potential allies, negotiate key contractual terms, lead the execution/launch, and monitor-assess an SP, JV, or partnership.

This course will highlight:

- Strategic mapping of external sectors, industries, markets, and sections
- Evaluating your firm's functional skills alongside strategic requirements and offerings
- Benefits and costs between 1) strategic partnerships, 2) joint ventures, and 3) consortia
- How to request another firm? How to respond if approached by another firm?
- Analyzing case examples of successful and poorly structured-executed alliances
- Team projects to develop an alliance proposal for your firm/organization

Course Objectives of Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and Consortia

At the end of this course, you will acquire to:

- Create a strategic map of prospective allies and potential arrangements
- Explain and rank-order "best" opportunities
- Plan a compelling value proposition for a proposed arrangement
- Describe the benefits and costs of different deal-alliance structures
- Promote an execution design for an arrangement, including monitoring-assessing success

Course Methodology of Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and Consortia

This course will use an inductive reasoning method for introducing new terms-concepts-models-methods, followed by highly interactive case discussion, and small-group team case projects applied directly to the attendees' firms/organizations.

The central focus is being proactive, strategic, and creative-innovative in improving a potential partnership, joint venture, or consortium idea.

Organizational Impact of Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and Consortia

Participants will have a direct return-on-investment [ROI] to their firms/organizations by making those requisite skills, models, perspectives, and approaches directly to their workplace and colleagues.

The ROI is that participants will be able to demonstrate these tangible skills and competencies:

- An entirely new mindset about firm/organization functional-asset values
- Performing real-time, ongoing functional capabilities score-evaluation metrics for strategic requirements
- Being proactive in cataloging potential firms/organizations for SPs, JVs, and/or consortium
- Being proactive in building multiple scenario analyses for strategic needs and offerings
- Quickly understanding how to propose potential allies with a compelling value proposition
- Readily understand how to respond to any alliance offers made to your firm/organization

Personal Impact of Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and Consortia

Participants will advance their professional improvement by:

- Knowing key nuances, differences, and similarities between SPs, JVs, and Consortia
- Increasing the new managerial mindset about "best practices" for SPs, JVs, and Consortia
- Magnifying their use of formal and objective models-constructs-terms-processes
- Obtaining able to objectively assess any type of SP, JV, or Consortium proposal
- Acquiring proactive forward-thinking approaches to potential future capabilities opportunities
- Delivering SP, JV, and Consortia creativity to both in-house and client-facing projects

Target Audience of Developing Strategic Partnerships, Joint Ventures, and

Consortia

This course is fitting to a wide range of experts but will greatly profit:

- Anyone looking to strategically leverage and improve the value of company assets and supplies
- Anyone looking to promote new revenue sources across product services and markets
- Anyone looking to improve the strategic options for the shareholders/stakeholders
- R+D / Product Development Teams looking to enhance/broaden the scope/scale of the portfolio
