Introduction

This Contract Negotiation Strategies & Effective Purchasing training course challenges the belief that anyone can purchase well and negotiate effectively. Neither of these assertions is correct. This belief wastes both large and small organizations' energy and profit.

This training course may save your company money by establishing a solid understanding of the benefits of purchasing offers and how to create a function capable of delivering those benefits through organizational excellence.

The ability to negotiate, not only with the marketplace but also with internal departments such as Engineering, Production, Finance, and Safety, is the second fundamental to success. Unfortunately, such negotiations are frequently delegated to those who are least capable of producing effective results. This impediment has a ripple effect throughout the organization, resulting in lower profitability, increased business risk, increased personal stress, and increased operational costs.

Participants must compare their understanding of their skills to principles that support effective purchasing and address concepts and ideas that benefit both the organization and themselves.

This training course will highlight:
